OVERVIEW

Annika Misurya is an attorney in Maslon's Litigation Group who represents clients in complex civil litigation, white-collar criminal defense, tort and product liability defense, and general commercial litigation.

Annika brings significant courtroom experience, including key roles in six trials over the last two years in both civil and criminal cases. She prides herself on her ability to meaningfully translate her client's story to both judge and jury. In each of her cases, Annika demonstrates a keen desire to understand her client's objectives and work toward a successful outcome with diligence and common sense.

Annika's dedication to the profession and the community is evident in her many activities. She has taken on leadership roles with Minnesota Women Lawyers and the Women's White Collar Defense Association, and she volunteers with the Minneapolis Reader/Writer program, among other roles. Annika is also engaged in pro bono work through the Pro Se Project and the Tubman Safety Project. Through her work with the former, Annika was recently able to assist an incarcerated individual in achieving a settlement related to excessive force they experienced at the hands of correctional officers.

While attending the University of Minnesota Law School, Annika served as a law clerk in the Hennepin County Public Defender's office. She also participated in the National Moot Court Competition Team, served as the mentorship program coordinator for the Well-Being Initiative, and volunteered with the Asylum Law Project.
